PATTY RYAN

Patty Ryan has enjoyed many years of show-business success, both nationally and internationally. Her songs have charted in 18 countries all over the world, including number-one hits in Japan, Hong Kong, Switzerland, France and the USA.

Her biggest hit “You’re my love, you’re my life” earned her numerous golden discs across the globe.

She has an extraordinary voice that is easily recognised and an incredible range. Combined with her star allure, this voice has enabled Patty to appear as a star guest on numerous gala tours both at home and abroad, among them memorable appearances in Las Vegas (Mirage) and Los Angeles (Hall Of Fame). Her sold-out shows speak for themselves, as does her performance in Paris with Kylie Minogue.

Her tours of Japan and Asia can also be counted among her many career highlights. Packed concert halls in Japan (Tokyo, Yokohama, Kyoto) and Hong Kong were milestones of her tour. And her live performances on Japanese television led Polydor (Japan) to crown her the “European Disco Queen” on the spot.

Countless performances as a gala star on various cruise ships and appearances on well-known TV shows at home and abroad (such as first place on ZDF’s “Hitparade”) further highlight the energy of this enthusiastic artist.

Around two years ago, Patty Ryan embarked on a new path in the German music business. Thanks to the support of her new team and the fact that she now has a management for the first time, Patty Ryan is enjoying more and more national success.

Patty Ryan’s diversity and the opportunities offered by combining sport and music have allowed her to play a key role in the “Americanisation” of large-scale sporting events, among them the final of the ATP tennis tour “GERRY WEBER Open” which was aired on ZDF, World Champion Fight REGINA HALMICH in the BAYARENA also aired on ZDF, the final soccer match played by ULF KIRSTEN in front of 2 million TV viewers (DSF) and around 30,000 soccer fans in the Dresden Stadium, as well as a soccer match with WSV-Bayern Munich in Wuppertal's sold-out Zoo Stadium, watched by Germany’s ex-Federal President Johannes Rau, 25,000 fans in the stadium, and millions of TV viewers (ZDF, DSF, ARD). STEFFI GRAF Charity Gala (Interconti Berlin).

The Concert-Tour in Russia (initiated by AUTORADIO) was another event highlight in 2004. Together with Thomas Anders, Baccara, CC Catch, Bad Boys Blue, Lian Ross, Bananarama, Kaoma and Opus (...) she performed 2 excellent Mega shows (Moscow: Olympic Stadium / St. Petersburg: New Ice Arena).

During 2004–05, Klaus Busch, Patty’s manager and producer, directed five German language music projects, including four videos. Two videos were filmed in the legendary Marbella Club in Spain – one by keyboard wizard Sascha Klaar. Both were big hits on German-speaking TV channels and beyond.

Patty's biggest successes in the German-speaking market were her country and western hits, which became established standards on German radio and demonstrated her versatility. In the west German (WDR4) radio charts alone, she had five weeks top-1 hits.

At the Golden Artists Gala awards of 2005, Patty was voted winner in the Best Comeback category. However, in the spring of 2006, Patty's management took the decision to concentrate on English language recordings, to meet the demands of her large international fan base. The Klaus Busch and Mike West (OTRE-MEDIA) produced hit, "I Gave You All My Love", formed the basis of a long-term contract with Spectre/Universal, which built on Patty's worldwide successes of the 1980s.

At this point, Spectre/Universal quickly released a greatest hits album, All The Best. The compilation includes two Klaus Busch-produced titles, backed by the vocals of Systems in Blue (in the legendary Hammer Studio) – the longstanding partners of Dieter Bohlen – to the delight of her large international fan base, who have followed Patty since the 1980s.

The next 12 months see the management preparing for Patty's World Tour for Peace. Our desire for peace is unbroken.
